A Mistake That Put Corl, Knott & Co.

In a "Wes" Business.

The Hunard feels in duty bound to correct one of those distressing nistakes which will occur in spite of the greatest caution in every newspaper office. In the report of the council proceedings, as published yesterday morning, the following paragraph appeared.

Cort Knott & Co. applied for a license to run a mions in Jacob Meyers' pince on Cherry stress. The petition was desired.

Everybody that read the item knew at once that a mistake hast been under for Cort, Knott & Co. are known far and wide as the most enterprising and successful dealers in politinary goods in this town and the last firm that would identify itself with the sale of liquors. The item should have read.—

LAW STUDENTS ORGANIZE. Will Meet Each Week and Have Older

The law students have organized an association and will hold weekly meet-The law students have organized an association and will hold weekly meetings during the winter mouths, and will have some of the practicing attorneys of the city lecture to them. The Hanalo stated one week ago that such an organization was being talked up, and last evening a meeting was held in the office of Frank W. Hine and an organization was perfected. The object of the association is to afford the members a school for the cultivation of forensic eloquence, give them experience in extempore speaking and the discussion of moot cases. Lectures will be given by Judge J. W. Champlin, Fred C. Temple, William Alden Smith, George W. Thompson, F. W. Hine and Simon La Grou. An attempt will be made to get Justice Brown to lecture on the absolute and relative rights of individuals. The association decided after a long detate to admit young women with legal aspirations as members. The next meeting will be held in Mr. Hine's office November 28, and each week thereafter. All law students are invited to attend.
